ANAJALI HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Wellington, head teacher and founder of the Anajali School in Nairobi, Kenya, recently spent six weeks in the United States speaking in many different settings and raising both awareness and funds for Anajali. The Anajali School in the Kibera slum of Nairobi takes underprivileged children from age 3 through Class 8, but only those who have sponsors can ever get to high school. As the need for an Anajali High School became apparent, ten acres of land was located about 45 minutes from the Kibera Slum. A payment had been made on this land, but when Wellington came to the US in September there was an outstanding balance of $36,000. By the time Wellington returned on October 25, the entire amount to pay the balance on the land had been received. This was not one big gift from a few donors, but many gifts from many individuals. We are filled with thanksgiving and praise for what God has done.

At the time of this writing, the first signing of papers in the Nairobi Land Office has taken place. The second (continued from page 1) signing is December 9, 2011 and then the land office will issue the title deed so that construction can begin. The target date for opening the school has been set for January 2013. Thank you for your part in this miracle.

The following is a note from Wellington written just before leaving the US for Kenya.

Dear Brothers and Sister in Christ,

It is with profound joy that I write this short note as I jet back to Africa to embark on the actual payment of the balance on the high school facility. It is with your financial and spiritual support that we have achieved this noble goal. May I, on behalf of the children of Anajali, extend my sincere thanks to you all.

May God bless you.!

Buy A Stone - Help Build A School

Many stones dot the new land where the Anajali Community and Anajali Ministries plan to build the Anajali High School. The pictures featured above show what has been constructed on a piece of property next to the land for the Anajali High School. These plentiful stones, which make beautiful buildings, only need gathering, cement, and workers to make the Anajali High School a reality. Be part of the miracle!

Stones from the property can be made into walls. Help fund the new Anajali High School by purchasing a stone. Small stones for a gift of $100 and large stones for a gift of $500.

Pauline Atieno

Pauline graduated from the Anajali Primary School this November with twenty other classmates. Each of her fellow students has a sponsor for high school except for herself.

Without a sponsor, Pauline has no future and will be living her life out in the slum.

Help Pauline. Sponsor her for high school. $750 a year is needed to see her able to reach her potential and be a productive citizen of Kenyan society.

After High School, then what?

Jeremiah Ouko Magar      Dream - to be a medical doctor and return to help the children of Anajali and Kibera.

Tuition is being paid by the Kenyan government.
Room and Board needed each semester - $600

Bonventure      Day student at a college of surveying and mapping. $600 tuition needed each semester.

Dickson      Day student at a teacher's college for secondary education. Tuition of $600 needed for each semester.

Several people have helped each of these students with the needed $600 for the present semester. Give to the College Fund to help these young men.

Many of you heard Wellington tell how the Anajali School came into being. The three boys he took into his home graduated from high school in December of 2010. Jeremiah Ouko, one of those three boys received an A for his performance in high school. He received a scholarship from the government to pursue medicine. The following is a letter he wrote to all those who have helped him thus far on his journey.

"September 6, 2011

Thank you very much for what you people have done to me. I don't consider myself that special but do praise God for being great. I am so blessed to be part and parcel of the Anajali Community.

Through Anajali and Pastor Wellington, I attended primary, secondary and now my university education. I thank Pastor because he has never ceased loving me and treating me much like his own son. I am so grateful Dad, if I may say so, because not even a single word can explain how happy I am.

I promise to work hard through out my campus life and do hope God will open for me ways and be able to make my dream a reality.

Me graduating will not only be for me but for the entire Anajali fraternity.

Once again, thank you and may God bless each and everyone going through sleepless nights to make sure we become people of substance tomorrow.

From Jeremiah Ouko Magar."

Sponsorship Drive

Anajali Ministries is embarking on a campaign to find 200 new sponsorships for children at the Anajali Primary School between December 1, 2011 and Valentine's Day, February 14, 2012.

This drive is necessary as the price of food has risen dramatically in the past year and continues to rise. Also the teachers' pay is currently less than $100 a month making it difficult for them to provide for themselves and their families.

Won't you consider sponsoring a child? Twenty dollars a month can help transform a child's life. Some people sponsor children as a Christmas gift for loved ones. Others choose to sponsor a child so their children or grandchildren can learn about another culture, another part of the world, and about faith in action.

Some people have actually given up buying coffee and have used the money to help Anajali. As we prepare to celebrate the Christmas season, give the gift that keeps on giving as a needy child receives education, food, and other necessities of life because someone like you cares.

If you heard Wellington speak, you know what a vibrant ministry this is. Don't miss out on being a piece of this miracle faith story.

Fill out the form on the next page, cut and place in an envelope with your contribution. Mail to Anajali Ministries, PO Box 46, Scotland, CT 06264 and receive the picture of a child for whom you can make a difference.

Your sponsorship is fully tax deductible.

Improve a Life Piece by Piece

Sponsor a child from the Anajali School in Nairobi Kenya $20 per month

The image shows a group of children in a classroom, with some holding puzzle pieces. The puzzle pieces are white and have text on them: "Anajali Ministries", "Needs Your Help", and "200". There is also a red heart with a white cross and the number "200" on it. Below the main image, there is a smaller image of a child sitting at a desk, and a large puzzle piece with a blue silhouette of a child. To the right of these images, the text reads: "Improve a Life Piece by Piece", "Sponsor a child from the Anajali School in Nairobi Kenya", and "$20 per month".

Count me in! I want to support a primary school student.
